

Problem Solving for a Bright Future

What will the future bring? What will jobs look like in the future? What will YOUR future entail? What about the future of our students and educational workplace?

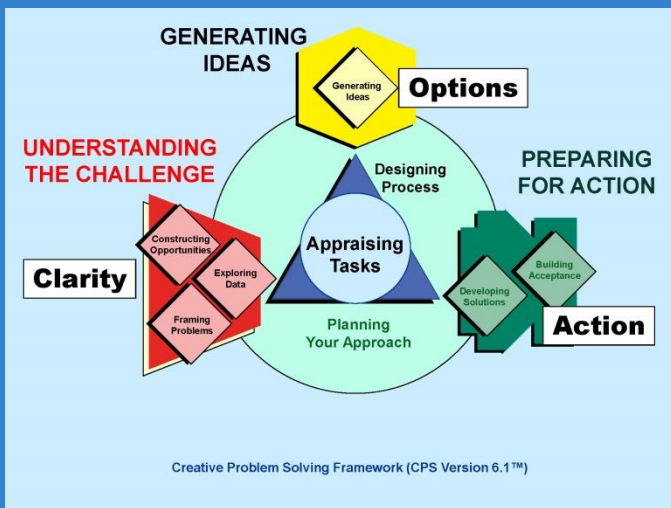

We may wonder what the answers are, but often, we don't even know the questions! How do we help ourselves and our students prepare for their future and beyond? How will we all learn to cope with enormous changes?

Creative Problem Solving Framework (version 6.1™). The Creative Problem Solving (CPS) process and tools will give you more control over the future. Rather than letting change happen to you, you create the change you want! You become the change agent for your future. Educators and students trained in CPS and the use of these tools will have the skills needed for success in their (and our) future.

Learn the Creative Problem Solving Process and the five generating tools for creative thinking, and five focusing tools for critical thinking.

VIEW

An Assessment of Problem Solving Style will help you understand your preferences for working on new and challenging tasks and how you, and others, deal with change. You will discover how you differ from others as you search for solutions and prepare to take action. Your problem solving style influences your behavior whether you work alone, with a partner, or as part of a team or group. You will learn more about yourself and appreciate the style preferences of others.

The Center for Creative Learning LLC

Working With You Today to Create Solutions for Tomorrow

Change; problems, both ongoing and emergent; the need for real teamwork and dynamic leadership; nurturing new talent -- these are demands that must be satisfied if your organization is to meet the challenges of tomorrow. The Center for Creative Learning can work with you to help you develop dynamic and unique solutions matched to a changing world. We offer three exciting programs designed to meet your specific needs: Fostering Creative Action, Building Creative Teams and Leadership, Talents and Gifts - The Levels of Service (LoS) Approach.

Building Creative Teams and Leadership

In an increasingly complex world problem solving teams are becoming increasingly important. Teams must be flexible and diverse, able to appreciate and build on the strengths of each individual. Leaders must learn to focus more on service and less on control. New talent must be nurtured to insure continuous improvement and growth. Our Building Creative Teams and Leadership program provides the tools and methods to help you develop strong effective teams and leaders able to meet the challenges and opportunities of today and tomorrow.

What Do We Offer?

Building Teams With Style

Using VIEW: An Assessment of Problem Solving Style, we work with your group, leaders or managers to help individuals understand their own problem solving style and the styles of those with whom they work. Through an appreciation of the style similarities and differences and the varied creative strengths among group members, groups are transformed into teams that are able to produce beyond individual potential.

Consultations and Facilitation

Does your educational organization or classroom need new directions in team building or talent development? Is your climate killing creativity? Are people's strengths and styles being overlooked? We will help you to identify the right questions to ask as you address the challenges or problems you face. Applying the CPS process you will develop a plan of action to bring about the change necessary, no matter your area of concern.

How Are We Unique?

Our Methods:

Our methods and tools build on a solid research foundation. They are proven, powerful, practical, and continuously evolving. Our approach is flexible, with methods and tools that can be readily adapted to many settings.

Our Style:

Our services are custom-planned. We listen and work closely with you to determine your needs and develop your solutions. We learn with and from you as we work together, emphasizing substance, quality, and long-term benefits over slick, superficial, quick fixes.

Talents and Gifts - Levels of Service (LoS)

This approach to talent development seeks to bring out the best in every student. We provide four levels of service for differentiation to meet the needs of all students.

Conference or Keynote Presentations

We provide sessions on a variety of motivational topics aimed at developing teams, strengthening leadership skills, or coaching and mentoring for talent development.

Sample topics include:

- The Servant Leader as Team Builder
- The Talent Spotters Checklist
- Ensuring the Future with the Ancient Call to Mentoring
- Before You Can Row Together You All Have to Get in the Boat
- Creating and Maintaining a constructive climate
- Fostering Independence and Self-Direction
- Understanding Style, the Key to a Productive Team

Our Values:

We care about your success. We build relationships and work as colleagues with our clients. We tell you the truth. We don't hesitate to deal with difficult issues. We respect your experience and expertise.

Our Results:

We focus on results that add value and grow in impact over time. We help you build confidence, ownership, and commitment, enabling you and your organization to deal effectively with future challenges and opportunities.
